TV in my estimation has brought the family closer in many instances where it watches the choice programs (of which there are still very many). But I feel that the movies on TV which treat divorce as an almost virtue are leading to the destruction of the family. So also, those which frequently disclose a woman with another's husband are continually lowering the standard of morality. Many of the costumes being worn are also aiding in the degradation of society. Can't we do something?

"Life With the Isbells"

Our cameraman visits the home of the Harold & Marie Isbells and records scenes with Joy and Jill, adopted twins of WGN-TV stars. Read it next week in TV Forecast, on sale Fridays at leading newsstands.

ON THE COVER—Elaine Neblett, WBKB songstress, can be seen Mondays thru Fridays on Goldblatt's "Let's Have Fun" telecast on channel 4. See page 10.
NEW YORK—Chicagoans will be happy to know that folks here feel left out about Phoenevision. Can't understand why Commander Eugene McDonald picked his home town for the test, of all places. ... If Sid Caesar is going to cut his shows to once a month, the comic knows nothing about it. "With a whole month to worry about what I'm going to do on the next show, I'd go crazy. Things are bad enough as they are." ... Betty Betz, the Hearst teen columnist, has four sponsors lined up for a show beamed at the young crowd. ... Milton Berle and Arthur Godfrey, despite their rugged schedules, are still tops in popularity here.

Rosemary Clooney, vocalist on "Songs For Sale," is said to have an appeal tailored for TV. ... There's a new organization here called American Women in Radio and Television, an off-shoot of the National Association of Broadcasters. ... Al Schacht, the baseball clown, is reported warming up for his own TV show.

Ella Raines is giving Faye Emerson some bigtime competition for audience appeal. ... Newest TV gadget: costume jewelry which fastens directly to the skin. It's supposedly loss-proof from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. ... According to Ed Wynn, "when I was with Ziegfield, I played to maybe eight or ten thousand people a week. Now in one night on television, millions see the act. It's a great feeling." ... Literary fans of the late humorist, Bob Benchley, will be pleased to know his son John will soon be writing video scripts, probably in a show deal with John Steinbeck. ... Dizzy Dean will telecast the Yankee baseball games again this year. Ol' Diz, who is famous for his battle against the English language, got himself in hot water with New York's large Italian population last season by referring to Phil Rizzuto as "Rizzuti." ... Imogene Coca is getting such a top figure for night club, thanks to her TV success, that she is trying to figure out a way to let the government get the "take-home" pay, and she'll be satisfied with the tax.

Comic Danny Thomas is as popular here as in Chicago, but the network executives wish he would stop rapping TV, even if he's only kidding. ... Vince MacMahon, a Northwestern U alumnus, is a dead ringer for Jack Haley. Autograph fans keep stopping him. "It takes a lot of pressure off Haley," says MacMahon, "but the wear and tear on me is rough."

The Dave Garroway show has a heavy viewing audience here, but New Yorkers complain that the show comes through too late—10 p.m. here. ... Jerry Lester, the Bean Bag king, has finally clicked here, after a lukewarm period. ... Frank Sinatra has an entourage of only 50 (count 'em) 50 people who follow him around doing things for him. ... Morey Amsterdam, the transplanted Chicagoan, is more popular here than in the Windy City. ... Leo Seltzer, who dreamed up the Roller Derby during his Chicago Coliseum days, is referred to here as "the walking Fort Knox."

Sportscaster Ted Husing is taking the same beating here from TV critics as he does in Chicago, which is plenty, but he remains calm and unruffled. The money probably helps. ... After his impressive performance on "Nash Airflyte Theater" actor Dane Clark will be slated for a return appearance.

Gotham is scraping the bottom of the barrel for dramatic scripts.
Whenever handsome young Bill Hayes gets the spotlight as featured tenor on the Saturday night "Show of Shows," viewers are looking at the Chicagoland kid who wouldn't take "no."

Not just once, but four times straight, Bill was turned down by his campus dramatic fraternity. The best he ever got for his trouble was some kindly advice to forget theatricals. It happened at De Pauw university in Greencastle, Ind., home of the now red-faced Duzer Du group.

Right now, Bill Hayes of Harvey, Ill., is one of the hottest singing prospects to crash the NBC network, and easily holds his own against the more experienced cast members of that star-packed variety show.

Bill probably inherited his artistic talents from his father, William, Sr., who harmonized with a quartet in the dear, dead radio days of Sam 'n Henry. Bill, Sr., a Chicago publishing executive, used to encourage his three sons to take part in amateur shows and high school productions. Oldest brother George, 29, now owns a camera store in Kokomo, Ind., and younger brother Philip is a senior at University of Kentucky.

Young Bill graduated from Thornton Township high after a strenuous 4-year campaign in dramatics, track, swimming, cheerleading and choral work. Besides all that, he edited the yearbook, played violin in the orchestra and sang in the glee club.

He entered DePauw in 1942, but left after one year to join the Navy as an Air Cadet. Following his discharge in 1945, things started happening to Bill Hayes.

He returned to De Pauw, married his high school sweetheart Mary Hobbs, and then went on to study advanced music at the Christiansen Choral school and Fred Waring's Workshop in Pennsylvania. Next came a junior-sized break.

Bill's younger brother Phil had been coming along in his own right as a musical bit player. He snagged himself a part in "Carousel" but came down ill before the opening. Bill stepped in, won the part and played 102 performances. Not yet satisfied, he enrolled at Northwestern U. and emerged in 1949 with a master's degree in music. His biggest help during this period came from John Toms, an instructor who took a personal interest in the young pupil.

Bill next hit Chicago for more practical experience. He found it by singing in a synagogue, directing the Harvey Federated Church choir, and taking radio stints. Between jobs, he studied opera at Roosevelt College.

The big break was waiting for him then, and Bill was ready. In 1949, he won the juvenile singing lead in Olsen & Johnson's stage scramble “Funzapoppin.” Next, the riotous O & J team broke into NBC video with their “Fireball Fun For All” show, but Bill was still in there pitching those tenor notes.

About this time, producer Max Liebman was assembling a big Thanksgiving TV show, and dangled an offer before the rising young star. Bill's contract intervened, but he didn't have much longer to wait. In February, 1950, Bill Hayes joined “Show of Shows” as a featured vocalist.

He's now 25 years old, and lives with his family at Jackson Heights, N.Y. His most loyal fans, of course, are his wife Mary and two children—a daughter age three, and a one year old son. Daily however, they're joined by thousands of fans along the network. Bill Hayes fan clubs are springing up like mushrooms.

It's a far cry from those college days, when Bill was turned down four times in a row and told to “forget about theatricals.”

The “Show of Shows,” one of the most expensive affairs on TV, has a host of sponsors to split the cost. Among present advertisers are Benrus Watch, Crosley Refrigerators, Swift and Company, S.O.S. Scouring Pads, Minnesota Mining and Wildroot. Its main competition for audience appeal comes from the CBS combination of Frank Sinatra and “Sing It Again.”

who is she?

By CHUB McCARTHY

IT took me exactly six months to wrap up this exclusive for all of my favorite readers, but here it is: the identity of that dancing pack you see on the Old Gold show each time NBC presents the Original Amateur Hour.

And now that it's all over, the fun is sorta gone cause I won't have anything to do in my spare time. I could have told you that the gal whose shapey gams have excited a bit of curiosity is my mother-in-law, and the little match box is my mother-in-law when she was a girl, but that really isn't so.

Everyone knows my mother-in-law is really Frank Gallop on "Lights Out."

It seems the makers of Old Gold are really not content with just one thing, making the best cigarettes. They've also been teasing you and me with the dancing pack and match box now for a good while, a mystery which has probably caused more controversy than the plunging neckline.

One reader in Kalamazoo, Mich., insists the dancing girls are really Mary Hartline and daughter. That surprised even Mary who is currently not a mother.
Another said they must be Ruby Keeler and daughter. More than a few hundred swore Mrs. Dennis James and daughter were under the pack and match box covering.

No one accused Ted Mack of rolling up his pants leg and doing a fast tap. It could have been—but some photos TV Forecast were able to latch onto began to solve the mystery. The pictures firmly established the fact that some luscious female creature owned what the sponsors called “titillating pins,” or legs.

The Mystery Miss is a professional dancer, one of a famous family of dancers, living in New York, it was learned. She lives a comparatively quiet life—if you can call working on TV a quiet life—in a small apartment in Manhattan’s midtown section. Ask her and she’d be the first to say the whole thing is a bit frustrating. She’d love to have her name and face before the public, an estimated audience of more than a million viewers.

Instead, for the sake of keeping everyone in a state of suspense, she is destined to stay veiled.

The poor creature is under strict instructions not to reveal her identity to anyone, nor to appear at functions where her identity might be suspected.

Twice a week she slips from her apartment to the studio where she remains in seclusion until the time comes for her to make her appearance. After that she disappears again, not to return until the next show.

No one knows any better than McCarthy what it is like to hide. For years my pointed head was the butt of many jokes.

But back to the mystery girl. You’re not the only one wondering just who she is—Hollywood directors have plagued NBC officials—even peeping Toms have tried to crash the stage-door—all to no avail.

I did it the easy way.

I took the advice of a fortune teller who directed me to one Mrs. David R. Adams of Chicago. For guessing the name of the dancing girl, Mrs. Adams is being presented a 25 year subscription to the nation’s finest television magazine, TV Forecast. Mrs. Adams hit it on the button, and she should be complimented for solving a problem that has thwarted the best detectives in our city.

Somehow I forgot to ask her if she smoked Old Gold cigarettes, I was so excited to learn the identity of Miss F.V.

Now, if you’ll kindly turn to page 38 we’ll give you not only her name, but an exclusive photograph!
She Lost Her Southern Accent

The “Let’s Have Fun” show on WBKB is probably the fastest motion TV stint on the local daytime scene. Emcee Hank Grant, vocalist Kyle Kimbrough and announcer John Dunham race around endlessly pulling gags, spouting songs and herding women shoppers through a maze of zany contests.

Therefore it’s only natural that Grant’s number 1 charmer—vocalist Elaine Neblett—has spent most of her 21 years in transit. Elaine was born in Detroit and moved to Clarksville, Tenn., at the age of three. Before she barely acquired a drawl, the blonde tot went on to Norfolk, Virginia.

At the age of 11, she had a brief nibble at fame on a juvenile radio series that was considered entertaining but didn’t exactly rock the entertainment world. Elaine was next heard from at Northwestern university, where the drama & music department went to work fulltime boiling out her cotton-soft southern accent.

The treatment worked, and Elaine hitched onto vocalist chores with Henry Brandon’s orchestra, and later with Frankie Masters. When auditions were held for “Let’s Have Fun” in summer of 1950, Elaine won the job of featured singer and has been a regular member of Hank Grant’s daily circus ever since.

Elaine’s large-sized charm is squeezed into a compact 5 foot frame. she weighs only 105 lbs. despite her penchant for southern fried chicken. Her good looks are startling, hazel eyes setting off the blonde sweep of her hair in a way that prods male viewers closer to their sets. Her hobbies are swimming and collecting pictures of her show people friends.

“Let’s Have Fun” is sponsored by Goldblatt’s Monday thru Friday via WBKB at 2 p.m. The hour long fiesta is staged in the loop store’s 8th floor auditorium, and is open to the public.

Time Lapse Films Cover Orchid Growth

The unseen growth of the orchid will be revealed on John Nash Ott’s “Seeing the Unseen” series over WGN-TV Wednesday, March 7, from 7 to 7:30 p.m.

Special guest on the program will be Mr. Andrew Benson of DesPlaines, III., noted world authority on the orchid plant.
Hollywood’s Attitude Toward TV Stupid

By JACK MABLEY

There’s a front page editorial in the newspaper Film Daily which attempts to tell the advantages of theater entertainment over home television entertainment. In the adjoining column is a story with the headline "POPCORN SOLD IN 95 PCT. OF U.S. THEATERS."

As long as theaters sell popcorn and candy wrapped in brittle paper, and are afflicted with noisy teen-agers and gabby women, they’re going to get plenty of competition from home television. I’ve been to three movies in the past year. All were excellent films, but my enjoyment was spoiled in all three instances by noisy neighbors.

I realized then that in a theater all you can do is sit and be annoyed. At home when somebody gets noisy during a good TV show, that somebody is told off in a hurry.

Film Daily also chides TV for its “Tom Thumb” screens, and notes that dance groups must be confined to six or eight people. That is typical Hollywood thinking. “It may not be good, but it’s big.” Hollywood should realize that all other things equal, a TV set owner would rather sit at home and watch 8 good dancers than go to a theater and watch a line of 160 dancers.

The newspaper also praises the comfort of theater seats. Maybe so, but I think that when theaters install individual sofas for each customer, they’ll have approached the comfort of watching TV. At least I do all my viewing from a horizontal position.

These arguments against TV are typical of Hollywood. The bulk of the industry is being incredibly stupid in its approach to television. They do not realize what a tremendous hold it has on the public, and instead of working with TV, or putting TV to work for them, they fight it. If they don’t wake up soon they’ll be completely submerged—and it may already be too late.

One reason they have no conception of television’s impact is that all of the major shows in TV reach the West Coast on kine. I think you can kiss off 50 per cent of the effectiveness of a TV show when you put it on kinescope.

As a consequence, the big shows in Los Angeles are Hopalong Cassidy, Gene Autry, Time for Beany and similar anomalies. With such a lineup, it’s no wonder the Hollywood moguls underestimate video. But with so much at stake, you’d think they’d take time enough to come East and learn the facts.

Otis Carney, of Chicago, who writes a syndicated television column, had this to say about Arthur Godfrey’s military tours of duty. Mr. Carney said what I think, but he said it better.

“This latest Godfrey excursion is one of the cheapest publicity stunts in the short history of television... The thing that hurts me is to turn to the war deaths sections of any newspaper and see the pictures of the young GI’s and Marines, lately dead in Korea.

“These men went to war too. Not with any high-powered press agency. They merely slipped away and died.”

(Mr. Carney, incidentally, fought his war as a Navy aviator.)

Nobody Here But Us Kids!

By UNCLE HERBIE

I had another enjoyable experience at one of the television studios around town the other day. Ever since I went into the studio a few weeks ago and had that funny experience with the boom mike, I’ve wanted to go back and see what other things I could find out.

Well, it just so happened that when I went into the studio a few days ago, the cameraman on Camera number One (you see each camera has a number) was having some trouble with it. The director in the Control Room tells each cameraman where he should take the picture.

Now the cameraman wears earphones and can hear the director through them. It just so happened that the earphones on the cameraman for Camera Number One somehow got plugged into Camera Number One itself.

Now everytime the director told the Cameraman to take a shot in such and such a place, the camera would move itself around without even the Camera-man telling it to do so. Now everyone in the studio was quite amazed and also quite confused as you can imagine. The camera’s eyes suddenly looked toward the control room and the next picture the director saw on the screen was a picture of himself.

Well, he certainly wasn’t the prettiest director and evidently he wasn’t the nicest either, and when his ugly face appeared on the screen—well that television set just up and broke itself in two.

Everyone really was surprised, but after that experience the director was nicer to the cameras, and the cameraman on Camera Number One and the show went off very smoothly. Which all goes to prove it pays to be nice to people.

Who is Chicagoland’s Typical TV Family?

Once again, TV Forecast is conducting its annual search for the family that represents the midwest viewing audience. All it takes is a single letter, describing this typical TV family.

The prize awaiting the winning family is a full weekend at the luxurious Whitcomb Sulphur Springs hotel at St. Joseph, Michigan, with all expenses paid. The complete facilities of this wonder hotel will be extended to the lucky family with the compliments of the Whitcomb management.

Think of it—a suite of rooms overlooking Lake Michigan, sulphur baths and massages, sun-tan privileges, sightseeing trips, rhumba instruction, and a reserved table at the gay Saturday night show-party. Besides this, Dean’s Riding Stables in St. Joseph will provide free rides and instruction.

The prize-winning letter will be picked by competent judges on the basis of sincerity and interest. Any reader of TV Forecast can win this thrilling weekend for his own family or another.

The contest will last only four weeks. Get your letter in this week so that it will receive early consideration. Here are the simple rules:

"I will Support and Defend...""""I... do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies..."

Maybe you’ve never said that aloud, as the Army recruit does when he first proudly puts on this uniform.

Try it some time. That pledge, whether you’ve ever said it aloud or not, is as much a part of your life as your birth certificate. It’s implicit in your citizenship—... a part of your fundamental duty and you can be proud of that.

The man who volunteers for service... in peace or war... can be doubly proud. He has said it aloud. More, he has underlined it with action. He has reaffirmed with a concrete fact his citizenship... moving to “support and defend” in the uniform of his choice. That volunteer has also taken the first step toward betterment of his own future. He will be a better man... with a career to respect.

Your United States Army needs more men like him... men aware of the pride that goes with this uniform, this public acknowledgement of a duty and a debt. Acknowledge it for yourself today. Go to the nearest U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station... and say it aloud.

This month the Girl Scouts celebrate their 39th anniversary, and I think it only fitting that we pay tribute to the greatest girl scout of all-time...ERROL FLYNN!

Many celebrities were scouts when youths. For instance, Ernie Simon patrolled with the EAGLES for two years...until an operation straightened his nose. Our editor, Bob Kubicke, was a scout, too. He could follow a broken trail for miles as a scout; and, to think that only yesterday, he lost a redhead on Clark St. after just two blocks.

I imagine that you all know the scouts have various units and slogans. The Beavers have a slogan, “I am a Beaver and I build.” The slogan of the Eagles was, “I am an Eagle and I hunt.” I was in the Skunk Patrol and our slogan was, “I am a Skunk and I...insisted on changing units.”

WNBQ Sportscaster

Jersey Joe Walcott has had a successful ring career. Successful to a point that he has already had three shots at the Heavyweight Championship of the World. On Wednesday he's showing up for appearance number four and another shot at the ultimate goal of all heavyweights. If he makes it, I'll be the second most surprised man in the United States ... he'll be the first. In the fight game Jersey Joe is an old man, for that matter in every day life he's no chicken either. He's gone far beyond what he could have expected as a normal fighter's ring life and he's made money far in excess of his abilities as a fighter. Not until the late stage of his career did he reach prominence and then only because Joe Louis had slowed down to a walk ... a walk without reflexes.

To my mind ... Ezzard Charles will ring down the curtain on Mr. Walcott's ring aspirations decisively before the bout has progressed too many rounds. Charles is a different kind of a heavyweight Champion. He's a hungry Champ. To most of the men who have won the title, it has immediately meant fame and fortune. Charles is not the possessor of either one ... and he wants both.

The only way he can get them is by proving to an almost disinterested public that he is a Champion deserving of the name. A step in that direction would be to elude Mr. Walcott from here to next Monday and I am sure Charles proposes to do it. The earliest possible moment that he can make Mr. Walcott take a shower the better off he will be. ... And by inversion the longer Mr. Walcott doesn't take a shower the lousier Mr. Charles will look and Mr. Charles, as I have said, is not in a financial position where he can afford to look lousy.

Charles is pointing for another shot at Joe Louis. This next time he should also put Joe Louis to sleep. He could have done it the last time ... but when the opportunity presented itself he knew he was way ahead on points and remembering Billy Conn, he decided that discretion was the better part of valor and backed wisely away to win handily. But since that fight both his confidence and his irritation have been growing like weeds.

The public has not accepted him as a true Champion and a knockout over Louis should do the trick. That may be a pretty tall order but I think he can, and will, do it. So the Walcott fight is just a conditioner and a chance to pick up some bacon and egg money.

After all what has Charles to fear from a man who couldn't even lick Rex Layne, the well padded newcomer from Utah. Layne has all the grace and ring acumen of a blind puppy dog and yet he took Jersey Joe. Charles is a fine boxer and a good puncher ... good enough to finally put Walcott away. I'd say in about the ninth round.

Next Week: "Television Is Not a Slaughterhouse for Boxing," by Ed Pazdur who takes a blast at pugilism and comes up with recommendations to help clean up the sport.
Johnny Bratton...
Fans May See Brat Cop Title

By ED PAZDUR

The thousands of Chicagoans who watched Johnny Bratton knock out Bobby Dykes over WBKB recently are now properly impressed that the Brat has grown up. In the fabulous career of the 23 year old slugger, no fighter has had his ups and downs with such ironical regularity.

Johnny's first big chance came when he was matched with Beau Jack, a leading lightweight. Jack caught him with a whopping crack on the chin and the Brat was finished in the eighth round with a fractured jaw. Johnny retired for further training and after his jaw healed, he again began moving back up the fistic ladder. Meanwhile, he put on more weight and became a natural as a welterweight.

His next big chance came again against the lightweight champion, Ike Williams. If he could get by this one, he would prove his class as a great contender. But almost a year to the day after his first broken jaw and in the same place, the Chicago Stadium, and in the same round, Williams caught and fractured the Brat's jaw again!

The Brat explains it this way: "I had an impacted wisdom tooth and it separated the bone. That made it easy to break. The dentist told me to have the tooth yanked, but I thought I could get by with it. Now, since I did have it pulled the jaw is stronger than ever."

While watching Johnny work out at Midwest Gym, we were impressed by his youthful appearance, speed, and power. He's still young enough to have a great career ahead of him. Learning some bitter lessons, he takes them seriously and in earnest, promising himself never to repeat earlier mistakes in the ring. A natural lefthander, he can punch equally as hard with his right although most of his power is in his left hand.

"I switched to a right-handed stance and worked a lot with my right so now it is almost as strong as my left. Most of my power is in my left but I use it mostly for jabs," said Bratton. That explained why Dykes was floored by one punch—a left jab by a presumably right hander.

When asked if he could defeat a wrestler, his eyes lit up, and he replied: "If we met under the same conditions, wrestler to wrestling rules and I stick to boxing rules, I know darn well I could take him." When reminded Joe Louis said he couldn't defeat a wrestler, Johnny violently shook his head. "I think Joe could punch the wrestler silly. Those guys in wrestling are a bunch of fakes anyway. Give me one my weight and I'll take care of him."

Bratton has drawn more than $400,000 in the Chicago Stadium during his young career. He claims in all of his fights he has grossed about $100,000 in purses, but because of poor handling of his finances he is about broke. "I really have to work to get straightened with the income tax people," Johnny said. "Then I'm going to be careful and start saving for a future."

Bratton is pulling for matches with Kid Gavilan and Charlie Fusari in order to get a clear shot at the title. It appears his greatest nemesis no longer lies in a lack of self-confidence or ability, but in an innate fear that he may have a glass jaw. His fight with Fusari at the Chicago Stadium, March 14, will establish the durability of his dubious jaw.

Johnny met his 20 year old wife, Joanne, in Detroit while visiting an Uncle. "When I first saw her I wanted to see her more often. I used to make special trips to Detroit just to visit her. Now we make our home in Chicago," said Johnny. Mrs. Bratton has no love for the boxing game and looks forward to the day he retires. She seldom attends his fights and promises one thing—Johnny will quit as soon as they save enough money and before he is hurt seriously.
TV Wrestling Highlights

Jerry Meeker, Montana heavyweight is eyeing bookings in Chicago following his recent Alaskan tour. As far as he's concerned, Truman can give it back to the Russians. As you know, wrestlers like to eat and the embittered Meeker returned with this report: "Here's what they charged us for chow. Hamburger sandwich $1.00. Steak was $2 a pound and ice cream cones were 50 cents. Milk 80 cents per quart, ham and eggs $2.50, hotel rooms from 8 to $20."

Another newcomer seeking Chicago bookings is the Portuguese champion, Mario De Souca. He is currently wrestling in New York and lively bidding from Chicago promoters is probably already in the offing. . . . Ruffy Silverstein is pressing Stanlee and Rocca for the New York limelight. His recent matches have caused considerable excitement and speculation amongst Gotham fans.

Sandro Szabo, three times world's champion, has been named manager of The Yankees—a wrestling team composed of stars like Rocca, Eagle, Thesz, Carena, Torres, and Silverstein. Negotiations are now under way to sign these grapplers to line up The Yankees for a tour of Europe and South America. The magnitude of the venture is exemplified by the outlay of some $750,000 to get the ball rolling.

Cuffineotes: One of Don Eagles greatest boosters is none other than Jack Dempsey, . . . Andre Drapp, the French rafe reported earlier in this column, is slated for an exclusive interview and visit with TV Forecast. Watch for it! . . . Fan clubs are invited to write this column for announcements or solicitations for new members.

WGN-TV To Telecast Golden Gloves Friday

The finals of the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions from the Chicago Stadium will be telecast over WGN-TV and the DuMont Television Network Friday, March 9, from 8 p.m. to conclusion.

Jack Brickhouse, WGN-TV sports announcer, will describe the Chicago Tribune Charities event for the television audience. Sportscaster Harry Creighton, Vince Lloyd and Frank Sweeney will be on hand to assist in both the radio and TV commentary.

The western finals will bring Chicago TV viewers the cream of amateur boxers as they compete for the honor of representing the West in the national championships to be held later in the month at New York.

The Chicago leather pushers are the winners of the regional elimination tournaments conducted in 32 metropolitan cities from the western, mid-west and southern areas.

Fed-Up With Wrestling—She Wins 2 Free Ducats

"Personally I’m fed up with wrestling. I see half nelsons in my sleep. Just for once I’d like to watch any TV program I pleased. The only way I can do that is to get the boss and heir out of the house for one evening.

"Unless you’d be so gracious as to send me two tickets to lure them out of the house, I will never be able to see what the other TV programs are like,” laments Mrs. Rose Worley of Lowell, Ind.
